

Perfect 👍 — since you want a portfolio landing page that sells your skill as a developer + Photoshop pro, I'll give you a ready-to-use prompt you can drop into a website builder (like Framer, Dorik, Carrd, or even when asking me to code it in React/Tailwind).

Here's a strong prompt for building your landing page:

Prompt for Portfolio Landing Page

"Build me a clean, modern, single-page portfolio website that brands me as a professional blending programming + Photoshop expertise. The site should have these sections:

1. Hero Section

- Headline: "Blending Code + Creativity"
- Subheadline: "I build custom scripts, plugins, and automation workflows that combine programming and Photoshop to help businesses save time and scale design."
- Call-to-Action button: "Work With Me" (scrolls to contact form).
- Visual: subtle animation, abstract code/design blend background.

2. About Me

- Short intro: "I'm a full-stack developer and Photoshop power user. My unique blend of coding and creative skills allows me to create automation scripts, design tools, and workflows that solve real business problems."
- Skills list (Programming: JavaScript, React, Node.js; Creative: Photoshop scripting, automation, plugin development).

3. Case Studies / Projects

- Use card layout or grid with thumbnails + short descriptions.
- Example projects:
 - "Etsy Mockup Automation – 1 template → 100 products"
 - "Real Estate Photo Workflow – watermark + resize 200 photos in minutes"
 - "Ad Banner Generator – multiple sizes auto-created from one design"
- Each case study links to a short video demo or GIF.

4. Video Demo Section

- Embedded short clips (30–60 seconds each) showing before/after automation.
- Headline: "See My Work in Action."

5. Testimonials / Results

- Quote-style boxes (if no real clients yet, use hypothetical "Etsy Seller" / "Agency Designer" perspectives).
- Example: "This script saved me 6 hours of manual work every product launch."

6. Contact Section

- Headline: "Let's Build Something"
- Subheadline: "Need a developer who understands design workflows? Let's talk."
- Contact form (Name, Email, Message).
- Email button: "Send me an email directly."

Design guidelines:

- Modern, minimal, developer–designer vibe (white background, accent color like deep blue or orange).
- Use big bold typography for headlines.
- Rounded buttons, soft shadows, clean grid layout.
- Responsive for mobile and desktop.
- Optional dark mode toggle."
